Finally, an easy way for nonprofits to share their knowledge.

You want and need to share your research with as broad an audience as possible. You know that listing your research on your web site is just the beginning. There's still the blogosphere, policy professionals, academics, like-and other-minded nonprofits to reach, as well as a sophisticated user-base that expects to interact with the knowledge you create.

Meet IssueLab. IssueLab's fully hosted and supported SubDomain services make it easy to update your online library, satisfy your audience, and actively disseminate your research.

seamless integration

Give site users easy access to your organization's research collection, letting them browse, search, and sort titles, all within the look and feel of your own site.

easy administration

Manage your research listings through an intuitive, web-based interface -- if you can fill out a short form, you can maintain your IssueLab SubDomain.

Maintain full control over your research listings and where they appear.

broader dissemination

Reach a broader audience with the work you produce by putting IssueLab's web site, RSS feeds, eNewsletters, and outreach efforts to work for you.

Stop guessing and start tracking how many people viewed your research.

See for yourself how easy it can be.
