PRINCIPLES FOR FAIR & EQUITABLE FEDERAL INFRASTRUCTURE INVESTMENTS

HEARTLAND ALLIANCE
NATIONAL INITIATIVES

Infrastructure investments should be targeted at low-income communities. These investments should build wealth in places that historically have seen few direct investments or have been divested of assets.

Invest in low-income communities.

Infrastructure investment should be diverse and should improve the availability and quality of public transportation, public and green spaces, affordable housing, roads and bridges, broadband, and safe drinking water.

Contribute to the development of thriving communities.

Ensure access to quality jobs for everyone who wants to work.

Promote the long-term economic well-being of individuals.

Infrastructure investments should target hiring toward people facing barriers to employment. These investments should provide workers with job training, education, and supports to promote their access to long-term quality employment.

Do no harm.

Infrastructure investments should result in a net positive benefit on the economic well-being, safety, environment, and health of low-income communities and individuals.
