GRANTMAKING IN THE GLOBAL
SOUTH AND EAST (2007)
Funders for Lesbian and Gay Issues expresses its gratitude to the funders who made this research possible, notably the Arcus Foundation, Astra Lesbian Foundation for Justice, and Dreilinden gGmbH.

We also extend our thanks to the grantmakers and non-governmental organizations that responded to our requests for data, entrusting us with their information and allowing a closer look into the realities of their sectors. Finally, a special thanks to Steven Lawrence at the Foundation Center for reviewing this report.

MISSION

Funders for Lesbian and Gay Issues seeks equality and rights for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and queer individuals and communities by mobilizing philanthropic resources that advance racial, economic and gender justice.

www.lgbtfunders.org
Introduction

One of the joys of our research is the moment it reveals an upsurge in foundation giving to lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and intersex (LGBTI) communities.

A year ago, when Funders for Lesbian and Gay Issues released the first version of this report, numerous grantmakers and NGOs around the world enthusiastically welcomed the contribution to the field. From foundation briefings to presentations at international conferences, we spoke with grantmakers across the spectrum about how to best support LGBTI communities throughout the Global South and East. And as this second version of A Global Gaze now reveals, grantmakers responded—and philanthropic support to these communities multiplied.

A GLOBAL GAZE: Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Intersex Grantmaking in the Global South and East (Calendar Year 2007) takes a current snapshot of both grantmakers and NGOs working with LGBTI communities in the Global South and East. As noted in this study, total giving to LGBTI communities more than doubled between 2005 and 2007, from US $10.5 million in 2005 to US $26.2 million in 2007. Similarly, the number of grants awarded by funders to these communities grew from 328 to 451.

Yet support for these communities comes from only 40 funders worldwide—the same number as in 2005. And, as the findings on organizations reveal, half of the 163 LGBTI groups working in the Global South and East did not receive any foundation support in 2007. Despite their valuable work across countries, populations, strategies and issues—and the multitude of confounding challenges they courageously address—these NGOs typically operate with small budgets and few to no paid staff members.

It’s in this context that we hope this report serves to inform your work and to inspire continued and increased grantmaking to LGBTI communities worldwide.

Sincerely,

Karen Zellemeyer
Executive Director

Key Findings: LGBTI Grantmaking in the Global South and East

DONORS¹

- In 2007, 40 grantmakers from 18 countries awarded 451 grants to LGBTI organizations and projects working in the Global South and East, reaching 79 countries and regions. In total, these grantmakers awarded US $26,201,336, including US $2,341,760 earmarked for regranting purposes.²

- Between 2005 and 2007, total giving and total grants to LGBTI efforts in the Global South and East increased by 128 percent and 38 percent, respectively; however, the number of funders remained the same at 40.³

- Private funders provided half of all dollars in 2007 to organizations working with LGBTI populations in the Global South and East, while public funders (and other intermediaries) provided nearly three-fourths of all grants.

- The top 10 funders of LGBTI giving in the Global South and East in 2007, by total giving, were responsible for 88 percent of total giving. Similarly, the top 10 funders by total grants were responsible for 67 percent of total grants.

- The five largest grants ($1 million+ each) account for 32 percent of total dollars awarded to LGBTI efforts in the Global South and East. The 26 largest grants ($250,000+ each) account for 63 percent of total dollars.

¹ “Donors” includes private, public, bilateral and corporate funders, as well as non-governmental organizations with grantmaking functions. “Organizations” includes LGBTI organizations that address LGBTI issues as their core focus and organizations that address LGBTI issues explicitly through programs or projects, but not as the core focus of the organization. These are groups based in the Global South and East or based in the Global North and working primarily at the international level.

² “LGBTI grantmakers” includes grantmakers that are focused exclusively on LGBTI issues and grantmakers that incorporate LGBTI giving into their broader portfolios. Also, a handful of these LGBTI grantmakers—notably public foundations and NGOs—have regranting functions that play a significant role in distributing funds to groups worldwide. See Appendix B for a listing of grantmakers with regranting functions.

Some of these NGOs are based in the Global North yet devote significant resources, including office space and staff members, to countries in the Global South and East.

The majority of dollarsthatacquired began and were distributed in South Africacame from The Atlantic Philanthropies.

Grants to groups dealing with “MSM” and “gay men” were tracked separately. Groups explicitly addressing “gay men” received a much higher proportion of the total giving than those addressing “MSM.”

The majority of grants to LGBTI efforts in the Global South and East in 2007 were for project support (65 percent) and for one-year durations (89 percent).

North America and Western Europe provided nearly every dollar (96 percent) to LGBTI efforts in 2007.

LGBTI groups based in the Global North and working at the international level received 38 percent of all LGBTI dollars awarded in 2007—similar to in 2005.

LGBTI efforts in Latin America received the most grants, while efforts in Sub-Saharan Africa, Western Europe, North America and Latin America received the most dollars.

South Africa, the USA, Sweden and Belgium received more than half of the total dollars awarded to LGBTI efforts in the Global South and East; the USA and South Africa also received the largest number of grants.

Nearly one in four dollars (23 percent) awarded to LGBTI efforts in the Global South and East were for organizations and projects dealing with HIV/AIDS among LGBTI (and the general) populations.

In 2007, LGBTI funders of the Global South and East awarded the most dollars to strategies such as litigation/policy reform, capacity building/technical assistance, and leadership development—and the least, in regards to funding by population, to intersex people, youth and men who have sex with men.

LGBTI efforts in Latin America received the most grants, while efforts in Sub-Saharan Africa, Western Europe, North America and Latin America received the most dollars.
LGBTI efforts in the Global South and East tend to be either national or local in focus, exist on annual budgets of US $50,000 or less and operate with few to no paid staff members.

ORGANIZATIONS’

163 LGBTI organizations and projects from 61 countries and regions working in the Global South and East responded to this questionnaire in 2007—-the majority of these groups work at the national and local levels. These include NGOs and projects based in the Global South and East, as well as NGOs based in the Global North working at the international level.

Similar to 2005, Latin American housed nearly half of the LGBTI organizations and projects that responded to this survey.

While a majority of organizations report working with a variety of populations, LGBTI and others, 64 percent are focusing efforts on addressing the general public.

The strategies most frequently cited by LGBTI groups were advocacy/public policy, conferences/seminars, and community organizing while the most cited issues were human rights, homophobia and gender identity.

The majority of LGBTI organizations that completed this questionnaire were founded between 2000 and 2007.

LGBTI efforts in the Global South and East tend to be either national or local in focus, exist on annual budgets of US $50,000 or less and operate with few to no paid staff members.

Half of the LGBTI organizations and projects that responded to this study did not receive any foundation or individual support for their organizations, even less received support from government and corporate sources.

Findings on organizations should be read with caution. Because of some limitations, it is possible that they do not fully represent the universe of LGBTI organizations and projects in the Global South and East. See Appendix B for a detailed methodology.
Methodology

TO DEPICT LGBTI GRANTMAKING AND LGBTI NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS (NGOS) WORKING IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST, THIS REPORT INCLUDES:

- Grantmaking data from funders that support LGBTI NGOs and projects based in the Global South and East, as well as LGBTI organizations based in the Global North working at the international level; and

- Organizational data from LGBTI NGOs and projects based in the Global South and East, as well as LGBTI organizations based in the Global North working at the international level.

Seven sectors were researched, including bilateral agencies, multilateral agencies, corporate foundations, private foundations, public foundations, individual donors and NGOs with funding mechanisms. Requests for information were sent to 119 potential LGBTI grantmakers; 65 responded and 40 were included in the data. For a detailed methodology, see Appendix B.

Some of these NGOs are based in the Global North yet devote significant resources, including office space and staff members, to countries in the Global South and East.

LGBTI Grantmaking Findings

OVERVIEW

In 2007, 40 grantmakers from 18 countries awarded 451 grants to LGBTI organizations and projects in the Global South and East, reaching 79 countries and regions. In total, these grantmakers awarded US $26,201,336, including US $2,341,760 earmarked for regranting.11

Total giving to LGBTI organizations and projects in the Global South and East increased by 128 percent between 2005 and 2007, from US $10.5 million in 2005 to US $23.9 million in 2007.

Total grants to LGBTI organizations and projects in the Global South and East increased by 38 percent between 2005 and 2007, from 328 in 2005 to 451 in 2007.

Forty grantmakers provided dollars to LGBTI organizations and projects in the Global South and East in 2007 (the same as in 2005). However, nine of the funders from 2005 were replaced by nine “new” funders in 2007.12

Private funders (and other intermediaries) provided half of all dollars in 2007 to organizations working with LGBTI populations in the Global South and East. Public funders provided nearly three-fourths of all grants.

The top 10 funders of LGBTI giving in the Global South and East in 2007, by total giving, were responsible for 88 percent of total giving. Similarly, the top 10 funders by total grants were responsible for 67 percent of total grants.

The five largest grants ($1 million+ each) account for 32 percent of total dollars awarded to LGBTI efforts in the Global South and East. The 26 largest grants ($250,000+ each) account for 63 percent of total dollars.

10 “LGBTI grantmakers” includes grantmakers that are focused exclusively on LGBTI issues and grantmakers that incorporate LGBTI giving into their broader portfolios. Also, a handful of these LGBTI grantmakers—notably public foundations and NGOs—have regrantmaking functions that play a significant role in distributing funds to groups worldwide. See Appendix B for a listing of grantmakers with regranting functions.

11 See Appendix B for a detailed methodology.

12 The nine “new” funders in 2007 are: Arcus Foundation, Barry & Martin’s Trust, Dreilinden gGmbH, Elton John AIDS Foundation, Front Line, Fundacion Triangulo, ILGA Europe, New Israel Fund and XminusY Solidarity Funds. The nine funders that dropped off from the 2005 list are: Australian Federation of AIDS Organizations, Centre for Culture & Leisure (COC) Netherlands, David Bohnett Foundation, Ise Bosch, Kevin J. Mossier Foundation, Netherlands Catholic Organization for Relief and Development (Cordaid), Oak Philanthropy Ltd, Olof Palme International Grants and Overbrook Foundation.

89 PERCENT OF GRANTS AND 45 PERCENT OF TOTAL GIVING PROVIDED TO LGBTI EFFORTS IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST WERE FOR ONE-YEAR DURATIONS.

GEOGRAPHIC LOCATION AND FOCUS

NORTH AMERICA AND WESTERN EUROPE PROVIDED NEARLY EVERY DOLLAR (96 PERCENT) TO LGBTI EFFORTS IN 2007. Further, 85 percent of dollars awarded to LGBTI efforts in the Global South and East originated in four countries: (1) USA, (2) Netherlands, (3) Sweden and (4) Bermuda.

LGBTI GROUPS BASED IN THE GLOBAL NORTH AND WORKING AT THE INTERNATIONAL LEVEL RECEIVED 38 PERCENT OF ALL LGBTI DOLLARS AWARDED IN 2007—SIMILAR TO IN 2005.

LGBTI EFFORTS IN LATIN AMERICA RECEIVED THE MOST GRANTS, WHILE EFFORTS IN SUB-SAHARAN AFRICA, WESTERN EUROPE, NORTH AMERICA AND LATIN AMERICA RECEIVED THE MOST DOLLARS.14

MORE THAN HALF (56 PERCENT) OF TOTAL GIVING AWARDED IN 2007 TO LGBTI EFFORTS IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST WAS RECEIVED IN FOUR COUNTRIES: (1) SOUTH AFRICA, (2) USA, (3) SWEDEN AND (4) BELGIUM.

The USA and South Africa also received the largest number of grants.

STRATEGIES AND POPULATIONS

THE TOP FIVE STRATEGIES FUNDED, BY TOTAL GIVING, IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST AMONG LGBTI ORGANIZATIONS AND PROJECTS WERE (1) LITIGATION/POLICY REFORM, (2) CAPACITY BUILDING/TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE, (3) LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT, (4) ADVOCACY (INTERNATIONAL LEVEL) AND (5) ADVOCACY (NATIONAL LEVEL).

NEARLY ONE IN FOUR DOLLARS (23 PERCENT) AWARDED TO LGBTI EFFORTS IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST WERE FOR ORGANIZATIONS AND PROJECTS DEALING WITH HIV/AIDS AMONG LGBTI (AND THE GENERAL) POPULATIONS.

THE LEAST FUNDED POPULATIONS, BY TOTAL GIVING, IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST AMONG LGBTI ORGANIZATIONS AND PROJECTS WERE INTERSEX, YOUTH AND MEN WHO HAVE SEX WITH MEN.15

13 These grants were received by NGOs and projects based in the Global South and East, as well as NGOs based in the Global North working at the international level. Also, some of these organizations are based in the Global North yet devote significant resources, including office space and staff members, to countries in the Global South and East.

14 The majority of dollars that originated and were distributed in South Africa came from The Atlantic Philanthropies.

15 Grants to groups dealing with “MSM” and “gay men” were tracked separately. Groups explicitly addressing “gay men” received a much higher proportion of the total giving than those addressing “MSM.”
OF THE US $26.2 MILLION (INCLUDING REGRANTING FIGURES) AWARDED TO LGBTI EFFORTS IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST, PRIVATE FUNDERS PROVIDED HALF OF ALL DOLLARS IN 2007 TO ORGANIZATIONS WORKING WITH LGBTI POPULATIONS IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST, WHILE PUBLIC FUNDERS PROVIDED NEARLY THREE-FOURTHS OF ALL GRANTS.

THE TOP 10 FUNDERS OF LGBTI GIVING IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST IN 2007, BY TOTAL GIVING, WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR 88 PERCENT OF TOTAL GIVING. WHILE THE TOP 10 FUNDERS OF LGBTI GIVING, BY TOTAL GRANTS, WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR 67 PERCENT OF TOTAL GRANTS.16

\(^2\) Figures reflect the “primary population” that was funded by the grant. Secondary populations funded by the grants are not reflected in these figures. Based on US $26.2 million, which includes regranting figures.

\(^3\) Multiple responses were allowed. Grants to groups dealing with “MSM” and “gay men” were tracked separately. Groups explicitly addressing “gay men” received a much higher proportion of the total giving than those addressing “MSM.” Based on US $23.9 million, which excludes regranting figures.
GEOGRAPHIC LOCATION AND FOCUS

163 LGBTI ORGANIZATIONS AND PROJECTS FROM 61 COUNTRIES AND REGIONS WORKING IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST RESPONDED TO THIS QUESTIONNAIRE IN 2007. Argentina and Mexico had the most organizations.

LATIN AMERICA HOUSED NEARLY HALF (44 PERCENT) OF THE LGBTI ORGANIZATIONS THAT RESPONDED TO THIS SURVEY. The Middle East/North Africa, East-Central Asia, and Australia and Oceania had the least LGBTI organizations.

NEARLY HALF (45 PERCENT) OF THE LGBTI EFFORTS IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST WORKED AT THE NATIONAL LEVEL WHILE ONE-THIRD (33 PERCENT) WORKED AT THE LOCAL LEVEL. Fewer organizations focused their work at the regional (13 percent) and international (7 percent) levels.22

POPULATION FOCUS

THE MAJORITY OF LGBTI EFFORTS IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST FOCUS EXPLICITLY ON THE ENTIRE GROUPING OF LGBTI PEOPLE. Other organizations reported explicitly focusing on sub-groups such as lesbians, transgender and gender-non-conforming people, men who have sex with men (MSM), gay men, bisexuals and other sexual minorities.

Glossary of Terms

BILATERAL FUNDER. Provides government-sponsored financial support to other countries.

CORPORATE FUNDER. Corporations that support LGBTI causes either through their companies or through the establishment of foundations.

INDIVIDUAL DONOR. Provides personal funds to LGBTI causes.

INTERSEX. “A term used for a variety of conditions in which a person is born with a reproductive or sexual anatomy that doesn’t seem to fit the typical definitions of female or male.” (From the Intersex Society of North America [ISNA], www.isna.org. For additional definitions, see the ISNA website or visit the Intersex Initiative at www.intersexinitiative.org.)

LGBTI. Lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and intersex. Based on the international expertise of the project’s advisory committee and project team, this report uses LGBTI (instead of LGBTQ) to more closely invoke the lexicon of international discourse on sexuality and gender identity.

NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATION (NGO). A nonprofit group or association with no formal affiliation to local, state or federal government. For the purposes of this report, “organization,” “group” and “non-governmental organization” are used interchangeably. In the grantmaking section of this report, NGO refers to non-governmental organizations with grantmaking functions.

PRIVATE FOUNDATION. Primarily supported by private funds through the establishment of permanent endowments.

PROGRAM, PROJECT. Throughout the report, “program” and “project” are used interchangeably to account for organizations that address LGBTI issues explicitly through programs or projects but not as the primary focus of the organization.

PUBLIC FOUNDATION. Primarily supported through fundraising from individuals and other, private foundations. Public foundations that have a regranting function are critical actors in the grantmaking process to LGBTI communities around the world. These foundations often have both the capacity to allocate smaller grants and a nuanced geopolitical knowledge of various localities.

TRANSGENDER. Used to “represent all of the innumerable genders and forms of gender expression that fall within and outside of stereotypical gender norms” (Transgender Law Center, www.transgenderlawcenter.org). For the purposes of this report, the term “transgender” is used as an umbrella term that differs across national, regional and political contexts. (For example, other terms used within particular cultures, and potentially categorized under a “transgender” umbrella, include kothi, travesti, kothay, hijra, and transsexual, among many others.)
Appendix B
Detailed Methodology

METHODOLOGY: GRANTS ANALYSIS OF LGBTI FUNDERS

To collect data from funders, we used a purposive sampling method (as opposed to a random sample) to ensure we would capture information from as many LGBTI funders as possible, believing this method would provide greater insight into the state of LGBTI philanthropy in the Global South and East.

ELIGIBILITY FOR INCLUSION. To qualify for this report, funders must have provided US $1,000 or more to LGBTI organizations and projects working in the Global South and East. These funders used their internal coding systems and—absent of formal tracking mechanisms—their institutional judgment to categorize LGBTI grants.

POPULATION. Requests for information were sent to 119 potential LGBTI grantmakers identified by Funders for Lesbian and Gay Issues. Seven funding sectors were researched: (1) bilateral agencies; (2) multilateral agencies; (3) corporate foundations; (4) private foundations; (5) public foundations; (6) individual donors; and (7) NGOs with funding mechanisms. Sixty-five funders responded to this request; of this group, 40 funders were included in the data.

CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM. Grantmakers provided information on their LGBTI giving, including basic information (name, location and type of institution) as well as the names and types of grantees. In addition, grantmakers provide the amount, duration, type of funding and brief descriptions for each grant.

REGRANTING. LGBTI grantmakers also includes public foundations and NGOs with regrantmaking functions that play a significant role in distributing funds to groups worldwide. LGBTI grantmakers with regranting functions that received regranting funds in 2007 include: Astraea Lesbian Foundation for Justice, Frontline, HIVOS and various Swedish Helsinki Committees.

Of the US $26,201,336 tracked in this report, US $2,341,760 were awarded as regranting dollars in 2007. To measure accurately the amount of dollars received by LGBTI organizations and projects in the Global South and East, and in the Global North working internationally, we omit these regranting dollars when describing the “distribution” of these funds. When describing the “origins” of these dollars, we include regranting dollars.

MULTI-YEAR GRANTS. In order to reflect the priorities of LGBTI funders in 2007, multi-year grants that were authorized in 2007 are included in the data. By regularly collecting data in the years to come, this skew in the multi-year will self-correct.

METHODOLOGY: ONLINE QUESTIONNAIRE OF LGBTI ORGANIZATIONS

In the absence of a single, comprehensive listing of LGBTI organizations and projects in the Global South and East, we opted to use an online, cascading survey model. Through this model, the survey was initially distributed to a broad list of emails compiled through organizational contacts. People who received this email were then asked to forward it to other organizations that qualified, in the hopes that over time, through multiple forwarding of emails, the number of respondents would magnify. The online questionnaire was distributed through email in English and Spanish.

31 Private, public and corporate foundations included LGBTI, women’s, progressive and faith-based foundations.

ELIGIBILITY FOR INCLUSION. Two groups were eligible for the questionnaire: LGBTI organizations and programs based in the Global South and East, and LGBTI organizations based in the Global North with an international focus. Respondents were screened for eligibility before the questionnaire.

POPULATION. Funders for Lesbian and Gay Issues emailed the questionnaire, repeatedly, to the organizations that completed the questionnaire for the previous report (a number of which had expired email addresses). Further, FLGI asked all of 2005’s LGBTI funders to forward the questionnaire to potential respondents. The questionnaire was also emailed to organizational contacts and friends, and respondents were asked to forward the questionnaire to organizations that qualified. Roughly 228 people accessed the questionnaire and 164 completed it. Once duplicates, ineligible responses and partial completes were removed, 163 respondents were included in the data.

CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM. LGBTI organizations and projects provided basic information, as well as information on their budgets, staffing, volunteers and funding sources. In order to include their contact information in the master listing, NGO’s were asked to give permission to publish their contact data.

LIMITATIONS

While the findings from the data are useful as a snapshot of LGBTI grantmaking in the Global South and East, as well as LGBTI organizations and projects working in these regions, caution should be taken when drawing decisive conclusions. When interpreting the results from this data, the following limitations should be considered.

RESPONSE BIAS IN REGARDS TO LANGUAGE OR SELF-IDENTIFICATION. Because the survey was distributed in English and Spanish, potential respondents who were unable to respond in these languages, or who did not have access to computers or the internet, are likely not represented in the data. Further, organizations and funders that do not or would not self-identify as serving LGBTI populations (yet may be serving LGBTI populations) and opted to not offer information, are not represented in the data. It is unknown whether, or how, these two groups (respondents and non-respondents) differ from one another.

MISSING FUNDERS. Finally, a number of potential and current LGBTI funders were identified through the research and the survey but were not included in this report for various reasons, including their lack of internal tracking mechanisms for LGBTI grants or because they do not consider themselves LGBTI grantmakers.

MISSING ORGANIZATIONS. For this year’s report, 163 organizations completed the questionnaire, significantly less than the 278 that completed the questionnaire for the previous report. For these, and other, reasons the findings should not be read as representative of the universe of LGBTI non-governmental organizations working in the Global South and East.

OVERSTATED REGRANTED DOLLARS. To calculate the amount of foundation dollars that were likely regranted (US $2,341,760), we added the grants provided by LGBTI funders earmarked for regranting purposes. This equation rests on the assumption that all of the regranting dollars were eventually regranted. However, we recognize that a fraction of these dollars likely supported other costs (overhead, etc.).

List of LGBTI Non-Governmental Organizational Respondents

The following information was taken directly from the responses offered by organizations, all of which agreed to share this contact information for public consumption. However, because this research represents a first-time attempt to identify and describe these groups, they do not represent the universe of LGBTI non-governmental organizations working in the Global South and East.

Over time, we anticipate this data sample to expand and deepen.

Further, given the sensitivity of LGBTI issues in various geographic areas and across political climates, we encourage that the contact information be used and shared with extreme caution.

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Yasmin Hernandez is a Brooklyn-born, Puerto Rican painter and installation artist whose work “dares to comment on topics that few others touch upon.”

Her recent work has explored the impact of militarism on people and the environment, notably on Puerto Rican communities. Her exhibit “Soul Rebels,” which depicted portraits of poets and musicians whose work serves to expose injustice, ran for 16 months at El Museo del Barrio in New York City.

“Themes of conquest, struggle, displacement, resistance and cultural syncretism manifest in my art,” said Hernandez. “With my images I reveal and celebrate the (s)heroes of hidden histories and their legacies.”

Hernandez created the cover illustration—“One Love”—specifically for this report on LGBTI grantmaking to the Global South and East.

“One Love” gathers a diverse, beautiful group of people into a loving embrace, blurring gender lines, sexual orientation/preference,” said Hernandez. “It celebrates the healing power of love in a world in which constructed borders—whether racist, classist or homophobic—are dissolved.”

Hernandez’s biography and works are available at www.yasminhernandez.com.
